

Hybrid SOM-GMM Framework for AI/ML-Driven Mineral Prospectivity Mapping Using Multi-Modal Geoscience Data

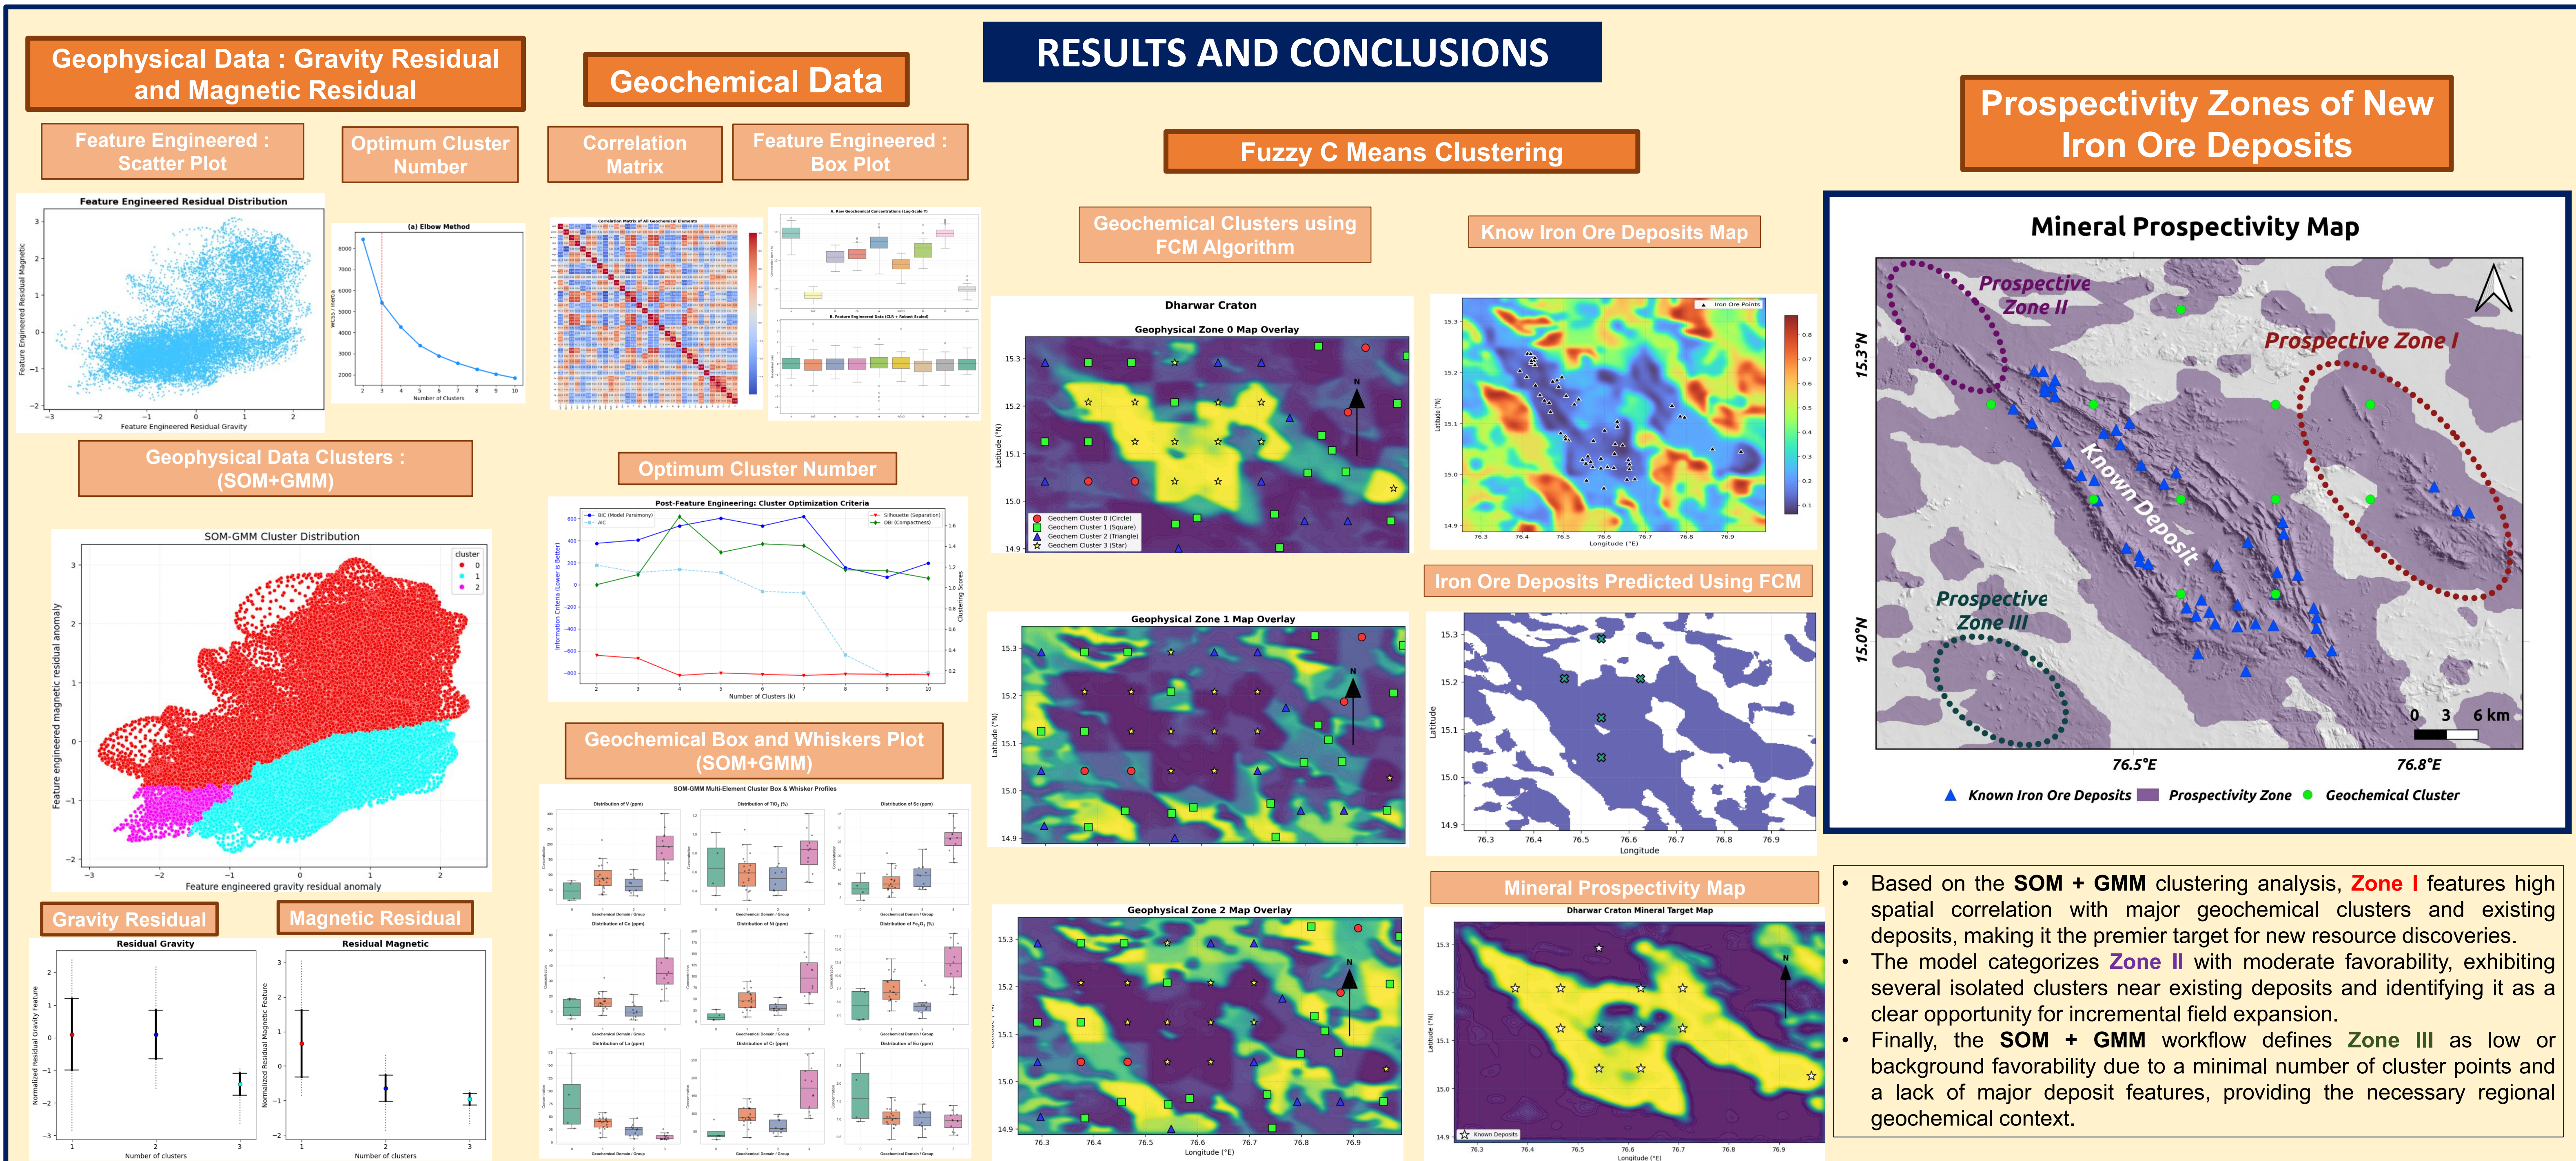

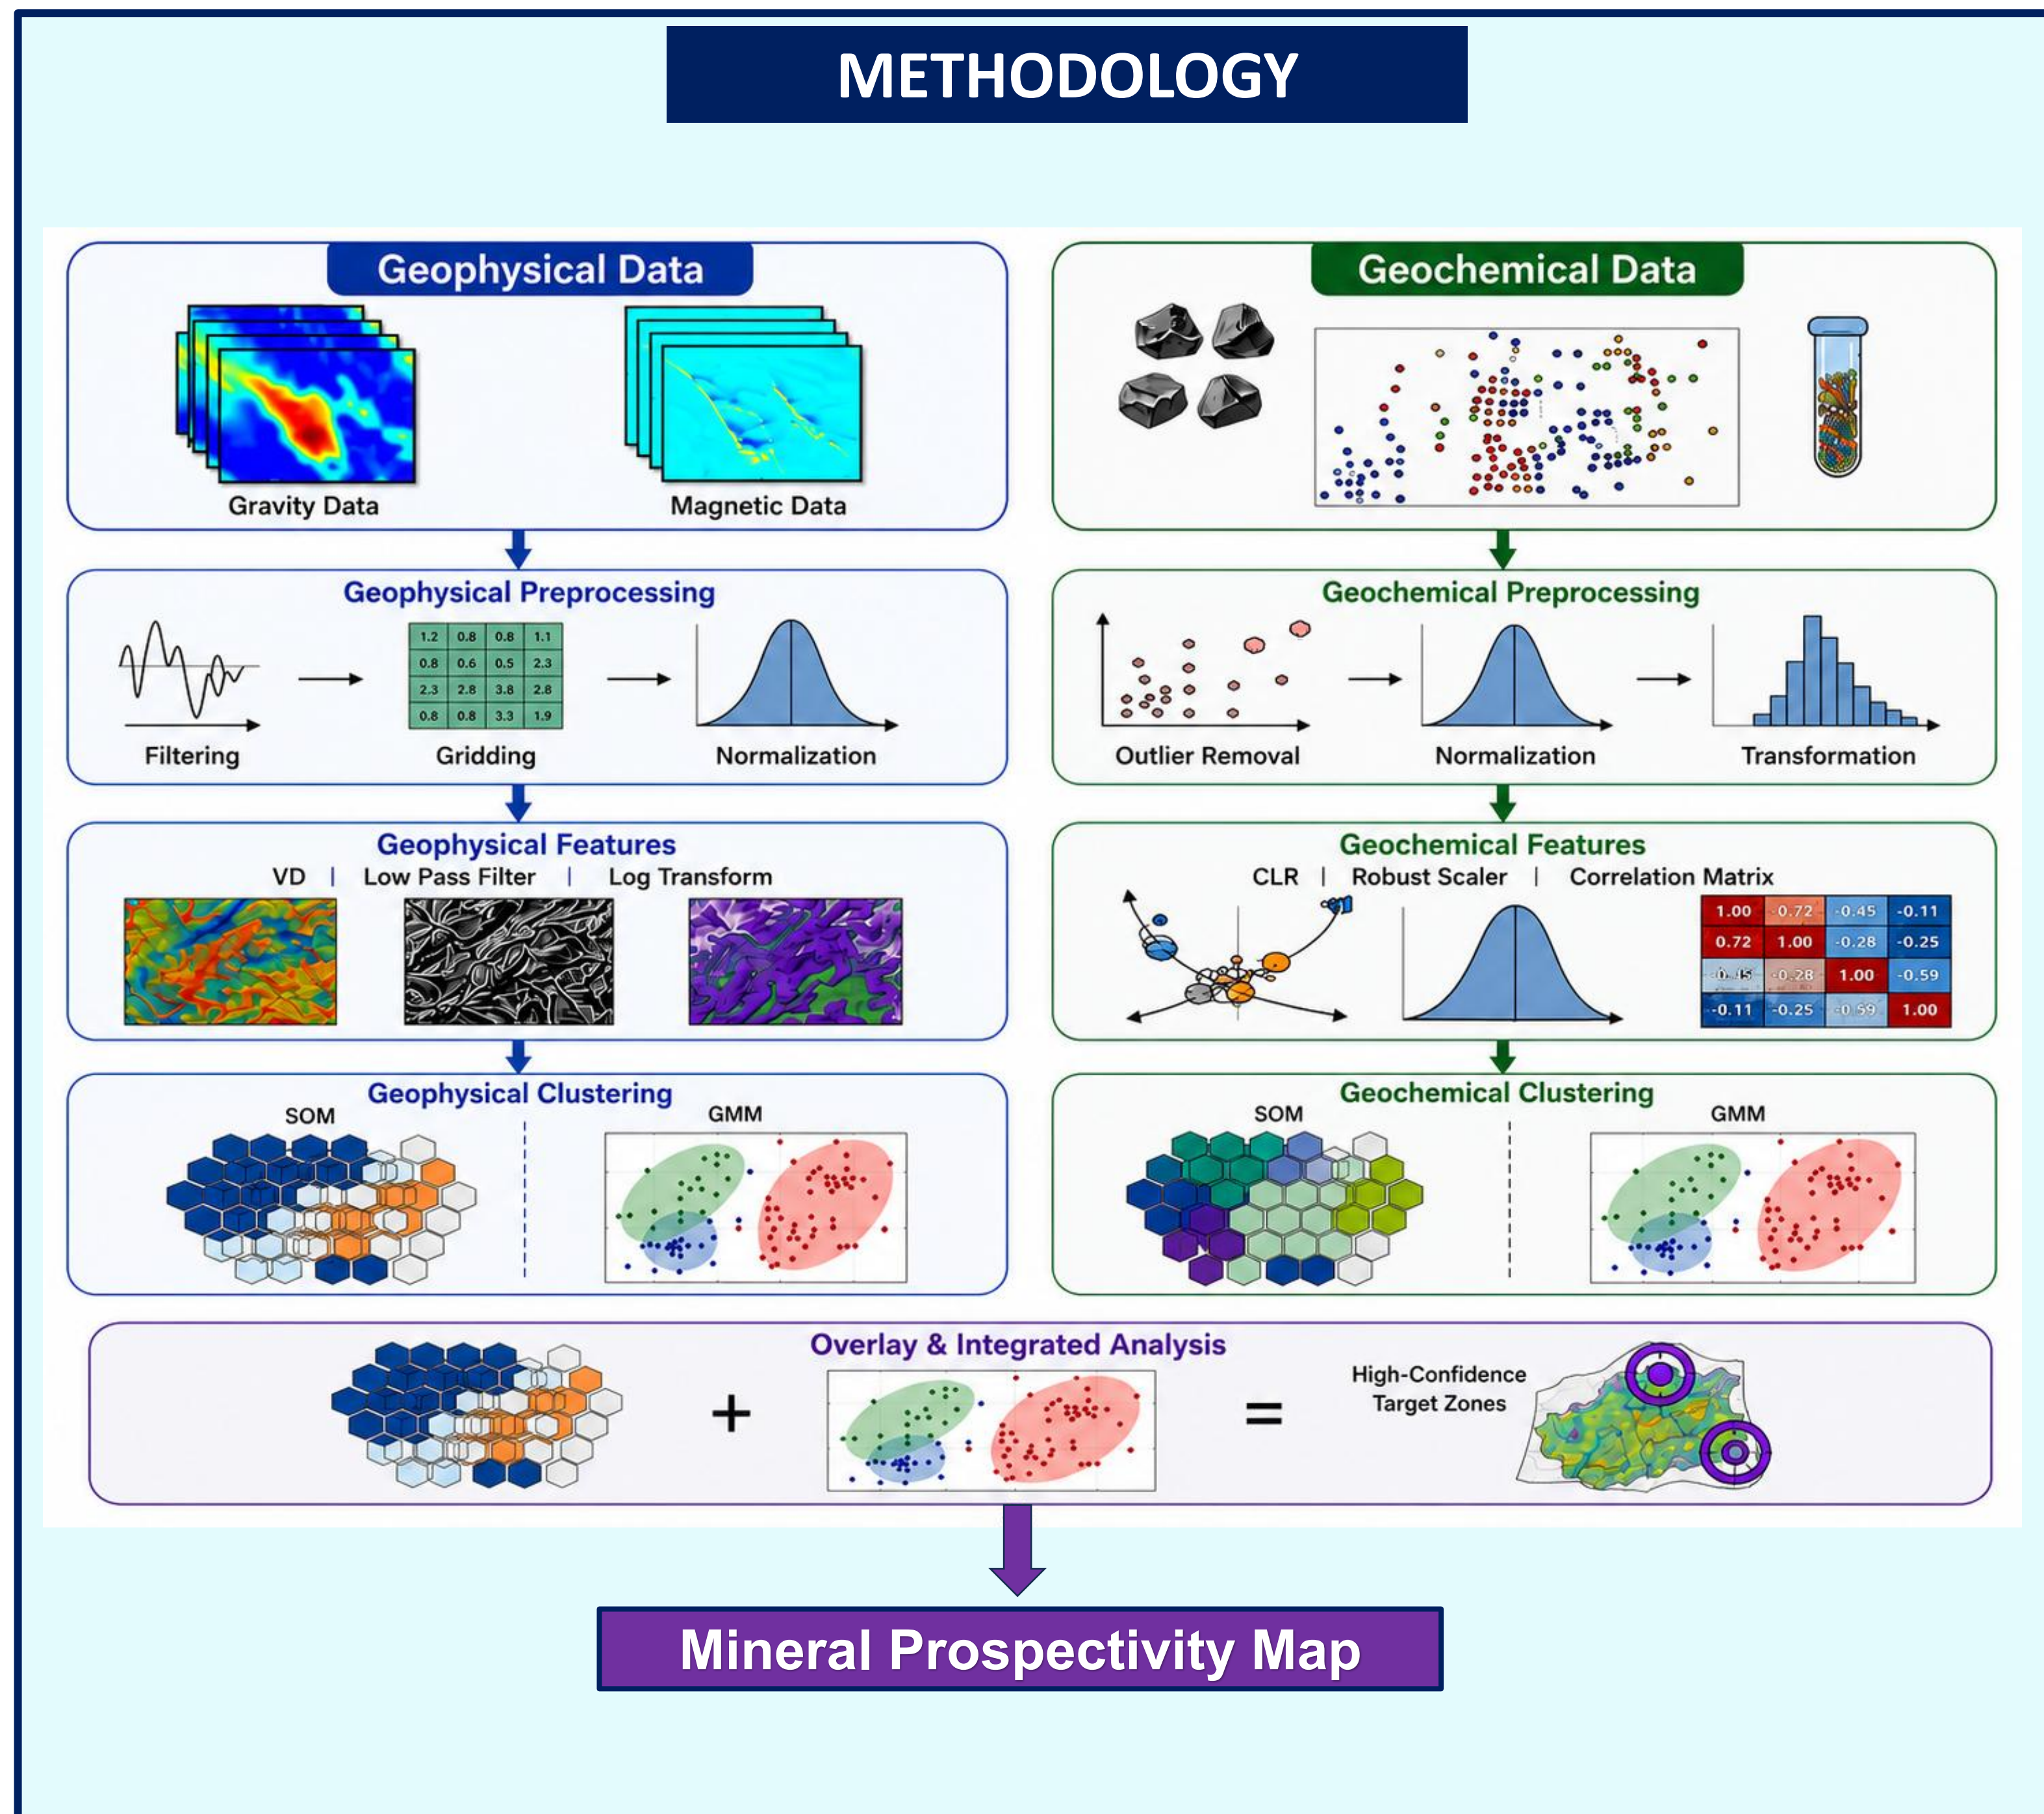

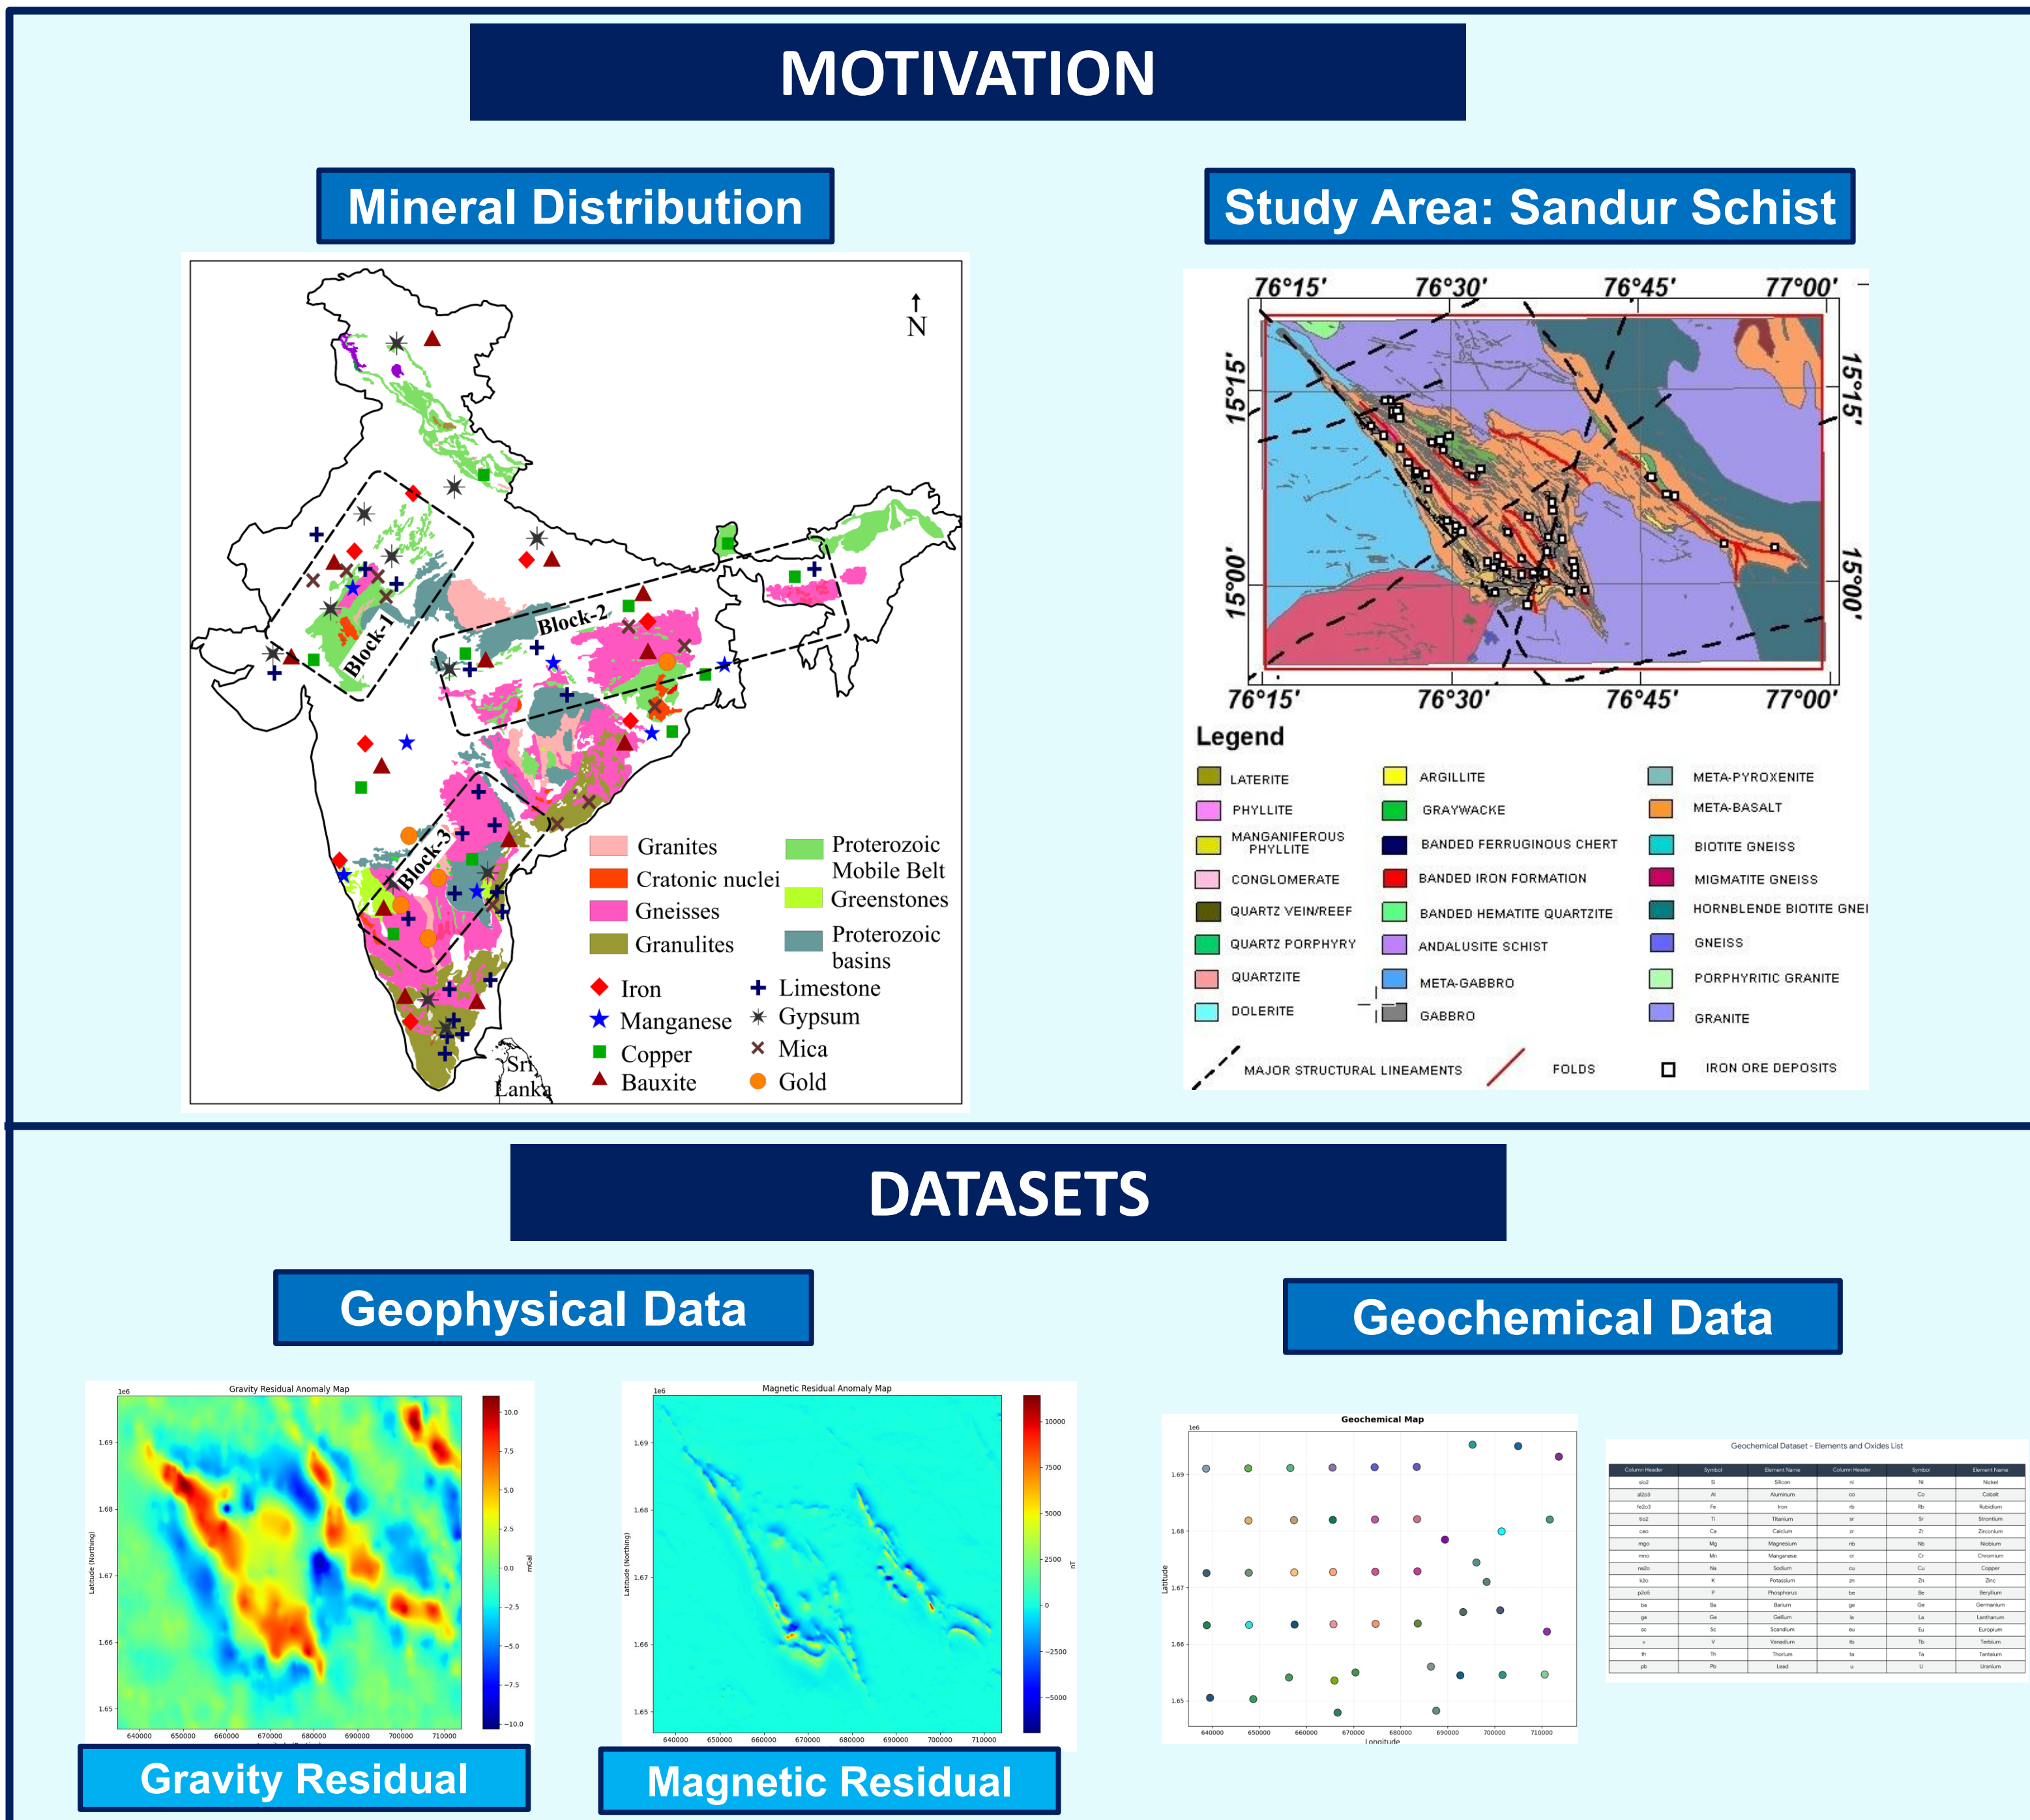

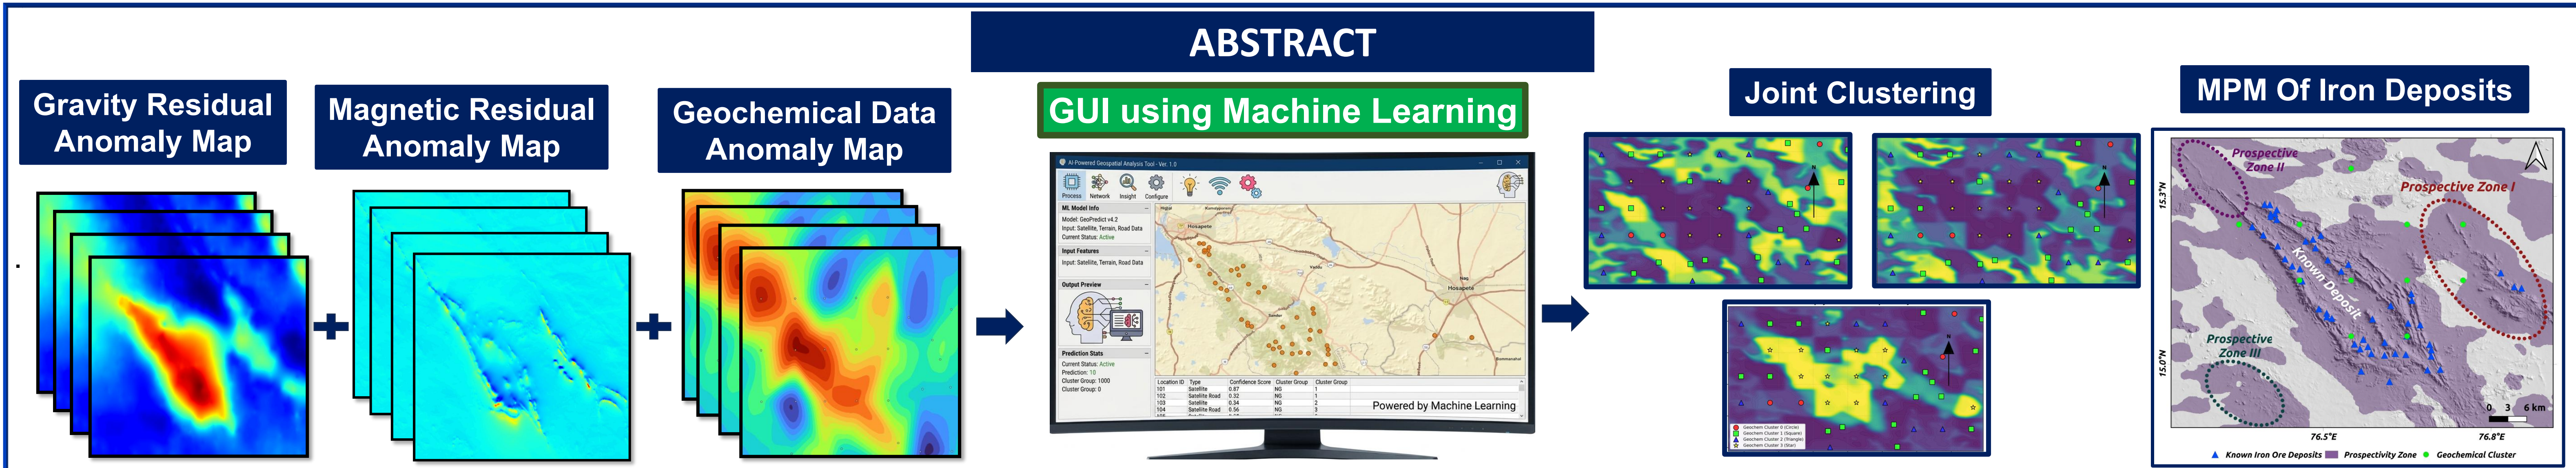

Twarita Prashant Kasabe^{1,2}, Srinivasa Rao Gangumalla²

¹ Department of Technology, Savitribai Phule Pune University

² Department of Earth Sciences, IIT Bombay

GeoSat Lab

Department of Earth Sciences
IIT Bombay

REFERENCES

- Vijayakumar, D., Rao, G. S., Singh, W. D., Kumar, M., & Pal, S. K. (2025). Cluster analysis of geophysical data for geology differentiation in Agnigundala mineralized belt of Cuddapah Basin, India. Journal of Earth System Science, 134(1), 46.
- Kumar, S., Arasada, R. C., & Rao, G. S. (2023). Multi-scale potential field data integration using fuzzy C-means clustering for automated geological mapping of North Singhbhum Mobile Belt, Eastern Indian Craton. Minerals, 13(8), 1014.
- Daviran, M., Ghezlbash, R., Maghsoudi, A., & Abedi, M. (2025). Unsupervised AI-Driven MPM: Application of K-Means, K-Medoids and Self-Organizing Maps. Journal of the Indian Society of Remote Sensing, 1-27.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We sincerely acknowledge the support and guidance provided by the Industrial Research and Consultancy Centre, Department of Earth Sciences, GeoSat Lab, IIT Bombay. We also thank Department of Technology, SPPU for their valuable resources, technical assistance, and academic support throughout this work.